In this Number of HARPER'S MAGAZINE is commenced the publication of DENIS DUVAL, the story upon which THACKERAY was engaged at the time of his death. Of this CHARLES Dickens says: "In respect of correctness of feeling, for seeing proper character, incident, and a certain touch of pathos—nothing could be better. I believe it to be such the best of all his work."

By special arrangement with Mr. CHARLES DICKENS, a new novel by him will be published in HARPER'S MAGAZINE simultaneously with its appearance in England. The Publishers hope to commence the issue of this Novel in the Magazine for May.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE has contained several of the best Serial Novels of Bulwer, Dickens, Thackeray, Lever, Tapley, Reade, Miss Fawcett, and Mrs. Mulock, besides Essays, Tales, and Poems from the foremost American and British writers.

Historical and Biographical Papers, especially those relating to American subjects, have formed a distinctive feature of the Magazine.

The results of the Explorations and Adventures of the most distinguished Travellers have been presented in careful abstracts.

The Editorial Departments comprise a careful summary of the history of the times, with comments upon the current topics of thought and remark.

Wherever Pictorial Illustrations enabled to the value or interest of an article they have been freely used. The Magazine has contained nearly one thousand engravings.

The Magazine gained at once the foremost place among American periodicals, and its circulation has for years exceeded, as it now exceeds, that of all other periodicals of like size in the United States. No effort or cost will be spared by the Publishers to insure that the Magazine shall maintain the position which it has won.

The Twenty-Seven Volumes of the Magazine contain matter equivalent to more than two hundred double-column volumes. Most of this is of permanent value. A complete set of the Magazine will therefore be a desirable acquisition to any private, public, or school library. The Publishers will make these sets, neatly bound in cloth, for One Dollar and Eighty-Eight Cents per Volume—$50.16 for the whole, net cash, the freight to be paid by the purchaser. The same amount of postage, with an equal number of illustrations, bound in ordinary volume, would cost more than Three Hundred Dollars. Any single volume will be sent by mail, postpaid, to any part of the United States, for Two Dollars and Fifty Cents, or at a single Number for Twenty-Five Cents.
